

ROY STREIT, BIOGRAPHY IN 122 WORDS

Fellow of the IEEE. Research interests include multi-target tracking, multi-sensor data fusion, medical imaging, signal processing, pharmacovigilance, business analytics. Senior Scientist, Metron in Reston, Virginia, and Professor (Adjunct) of Electrical and Computer Engineering, University of Massachusetts–Dartmouth. Before 2005, Senior Scientist in Senior Executive Service at the Naval Undersea Warfare Center in Newport, RI. Navy Superior Civilian Achievement Award. American Society of Naval Engineers Solberg Award. Exchange Scientist DSTO, Adelaide, Australia, 1987–89. Visiting Scientist, Yale University, 1982–84. Visiting Scholar, Stanford University, 1981–82. Author, Poisson Point Processes, Springer, 2010 (Chinese translation, 2013). Co-author, Bayesian Multiple Target Tracking, Artech, 2014. Numerous technical papers in refereed journals, and invited papers at international conferences. Nine U.S. patents. Ph.D., mathematics, University of Rhode Island.

==

